301 Park Avenue, New York, NY

Couture Fashion Week is a multi-day event showcasing couture and luxury fashion. It also includes exhibits of luxury brands and fine art as well as world-class entertainment and receptions. City.com was at the world-famous Waldorf Astoria covering the event and had the opportunity to attend the Dany Atrache, Catalin Botezatu & Nina Gleyzer Fashion Shows. Catalin Botezatu is one of Romania's top designers; he began to work as a fashion designer in 1992 and established his own fashion house in 1996. He is one of the few major fashion designers who directs and styles his own shows and makes all his accessories (jewelry, shoes, and hats). His distinguished clientele includes politicians, socialites, VIPs, entertainers and celebrities. Nevertheless, his beautiful couture designs appeal to every woman looking to bring out her femme fatale side through sensual, refined and sophisticated fashions. (Photos by Jason Howard)

Backstage at Catalin Botezatu's Couture Fashion Week New York Show was quite a spectacle! Catalin is known for putting on very theatrical runway shows that feature over the top hair, make-up and props and this show was no exception! A talented team of professional hair, make-up and wardrobe stylists hustled and scurried about to get the models ready for the show. The models behaved while wicked eye-lashes, feathers, face paint, jewelry and some strategically positioned hats were applied. Check out these amazing behind the scenes photos and you may think twice about the misconception that modeling is an easy gig!
